“ Good bye Bruce Scott at least in this world. In my 64 yrs of life which you gave me through a young Mohawk woman at the age of 22 named Annabelle White in Syracuse at a PowWow, I had a one time, one hour long distance phone call made to the man I knew to be my biological father. The minutes flew by in my introduction, but one thing I noticed was that you were not dismayed or confused. You remembered the young woman who "whisked" off your offspring without notice, but were so involved in your own world, you never pursued the chance to know your oldest daughter's whereabouts or well being. It was by God's divine leading that this past Friday evening, sharing thoughts about my life with my husband that your name came up. My husband quickly googled your name and this is how I learned of your departure. I cannot blame you Bruce (at least totally), as my biological mother thieved away my identity by abandoning me, adopting me out for convenience and shunning me away from my geneology on both sides. I will remember this picture of you Bruce, the smile, the eyes (which are the most outstanding feature we share together as father/daughter) and our "one" and only hour long conversation plus the one picture I have of you on your beloved motorcycle with at that time, my youngest sibling who appeared to be around 2 yrs of age. Whoever is reading this please feel free to reach out to me. I want to know who you are, I want to know who my real family is, I want to experience my roots and identity. My email is: iselhomz4u@aol.com, My Facebook: Beverly McCord. There is a whole family on my side that Bruce will forever share a part of and all my paternal relatives that God wants all of us to know and connect with. He is a God of truth and restoration. Let's use Bruce's commemoration as a stepping stone to healing and comfort for all of my and my father's family.

God Bless You Bruce. I'll see you on the other side someday. Until then, I want to make the most out of the anticipated restoration, connection, peace, love and joy these remaining years we have.

“ Bruce was always an amazing person in my eyes. Him and I went to car shows together in the “old car” can’t remember what kind. And we always joked that his corvette was “born in 86”. Just like me... Bruce was the kindest person I have ever known. My daughter loved him as did I. He never had a negative thing to say about anyone or anything. He was truly one of last good people on this earth. He had a heart of gold.

Our last conversation less than a month ago was he was coming to visit me in Weedsport and my husband and I would take him to dinner. I’m heartbroken those plans didn’t come true.

I will forever remember you Bruce... you had a much bigger impact on my life than you know.
