“ It is still so very hard for me to imagine I will no longer be coming to pick you up, Joanie. To take you for coffee and to the library to get a stack of books to take home. You were my friend in so many ways and working with you was a blessing. I can only hope that your mom had the coffee on and was waiting for you to arrive in heaven. THAT makes all this bearable. Thinking of the two of you, laughing, catching up, and you pouring more coffee than you need into several different cups...If I was able to tell you something funny and you would laugh, it made me feel I was doing something good in the world. YOU were 'something good' in the world, Joan. And, a little bit of 'you' rubbed off on anyone who had the good fortune to have known you. I will miss you terribly. And, I will think about you often and with great fondness. You were my Friend, above all else. 💔

“ We have very fond memories of Joan. She was always cheerful, smiling and happy. She didn't always remember my name but it was ok. She'd just start to laugh when reminded of who you were and you couldn't resist laughing right along with her. She was a dear, sweet, precious soul. We love you Joanie.
With our deepest sympathy,
