“one more thing about our beloved Roseanne . . . she told me, fairly recently, (within the past few months) that she heard a voice while praying fervently for God to heal her. it said "healing comes thru death". yes. she said it was an actual audible and clear voice. So - that having been said - Roseanne's prayers, and the prayers of all of us who prayed for her, have been answered. She is healed and whole now. Jesus came and lifted her soul out of that diseased body as she slept and carried her home. Praise be to God. Her suffering is now over. and for that we can rejoice and be glad.

“ Roseanne was a pure and honest love light. Whenever I would take her to Wegman's to do her grocery shopping she would stop and hug someone she knew every 3 minutes. she knew and loved so many people and they loved her. Once I took her to the DMV with me and by the time I came back from getting my stuff taken care of she had made friends with the guy that was sitting somewhere near where we were and they hugged before we left. that's how she was. just pure love. I will never forget her and I can't wait to see her in heaven.

“ Aunt Roseanne was an incredibly giving, kind-hearted, wildly quirky, sweet, and amazingly unique woman. She made all of us a little crazy at times, and laugh like crazy at others. She was thoughtful, warm, and really lived every moment of her life, fully immersed. She was never boring. There will never be another person like her. She will live on in my memories, as the most colorful person I've ever known.
